THE PASSIONIST TEMPLE

Consecration of St. Michael's Church at West Hoboken.

IMPOSING RELIGIOUS PAGEANT

Sermons by Bishop Lynch and Dr. McSweeny.

The dedication of the Church of St. Michael the Archangel, which is attached to the Passionist Monastery at West Hoboken, took place yesterday morning. The edifice was thronged to overflowing, many persons cententing themselves with positions on the grass plots around the building. At nine o'clock the bells in the church tower chimed forth and people streamed in response from all quarters of the surrounding country. ten o'clock a brilliant procession filed from the vestry into the sanctuary and ranged themselves on either side of the main altar. There were aumerous acolytes in robes of white and scarlet, priests of the Congregation of Passionists, surpliced clergymen from the neighboring parishes and superiors of religious orders among this group. Bishop Lynch, of Charleston, S. C., and Bishop O'Hara, of Scranton, Pa., sat in their episcopal robes on thrones at each wing. The dedicatory ceremonies were conducted by the Mest Rev. M. A. Corrigan, Bishop of Newark, assisted by Father De Concillo, of Jersey City, and Father Victor, C. P., as deacons of honor. While the congregation throughout the whole edifice bent down in prayer before the attar the scene was most imposing. The three sanctuary alters, as well as those at each extremity of the transept, were profusely adorned with flowers and waxen lights, whose rays combined with those cast down through windows of the dome to spread a mediæval halo over the scene. This effect was heightened by the gorgeous appearance of the paintings, statues and marble-colored walls, which seemed to glow with increased splendor during the progress of the ceremony. When the office of consecrating the temple to the service of God had been performed Bishop O'Hara celebrated

A PONTIFICAL HIGH MASS, during which the Rev. Father Dominic, Provincial of the Order of Passionists, officiated as archpriest, Dr. McSweeny, of Poughkeepste, first honorary deacon, and Father McDowell, of the church of St. Agnes, second honorary deacon. The deacon and the sub-deacon of the mass were respectively Rev. Father Timothy, C. P., and Rev. Father Ignatius, C. P. Rev. Fathers Joseph and Paul were the masters of ceremonies. Among the distinguished clergymen present were the Rev. Benry Hudon, S. J., President of St. Francis Xavier's College; Rev. Father Marechal, S. J., of Jersey City; Dr. O'Connor, of Philadelphia, whose brother, the late Jesuit of Pittsburg, first introqueed the Passionist priests into this country; Dr. Birdsall, of the Church of the Epiphany; Very Rev. G. H. Doane, V. G., of Newark; Mgr. Seton, Rev. Fathers Borghese and Cody, of Newark; Rev. Father Corrigan, of St. Bridget's, Jersey City: Rev. John J. Riordan and the superiors of various religious houses throughout the country. The Capuchins were represented by the Rev. Fathers Bonsventure, of Thirtieth street, New York: Bona. venture and Spierings, of Fort Lee. Rev. Father O'Dwyer represented the Paulists, and Father Bovet the Redemptorists. Many prominent laymen were seated in the aisles, among whom were Judge Wiggins, Associate Justice of the Court of Common Pleas; Commissioner James Lynch, of New York; P. J. Meenan, C. C. Burr, C. J. Rooney and many others. THE MUSIC.

While the Holy Sacrifice was being offered an abundance of exqusite music was supplied by the choir of St. Stepnen's, New York, Mr. Danforth presiding at the organ. The orchestral equipments consisted of brass and stringed instruments. It would be idle to speak in praise of St. Stephen's choir, whose reputation stands so well; nevertheless their performances yesterday elicited so much admiration that they deserve particular mention. The mass they pelected was the one "ever fair and ever new," Mozart's unrivalled No. 12. Although the movement throughout was very rapid, the readition of the prominent passages was somewhat novel and affecting. The choir, during mass, were stationed on the gallery, between the front towers, sationed on the gallery, estween the iron to towers, but at the close of the ceremony they ascended to the circular partition, near the base of the great dome, where they struck up a sairited indie. The result was extremely pleasing, the wanes of sympheny being collected and cast downward with intensified beauty and power by the wails of the dome. The unique and hallowed aspect of the interior while the strains of music swept turough the aisles seemed to detain the admiring audience long after the conclusion of the religious services. Many of the priests of the Order, distinguished by the insignia of the passion embiasoned on their black gowns, were grasped by the hands as they passed through the assemblage and warmly congratulated on the splendid results of their labors among the Catholics of the district.

After the first Gospel Bishop Lynch advanced to the iront of the aitar, accompanied by his chaplain. Rev. Father Marechal, S. J. and there kneit for a few minutes, while the "Veni Creator Spiritus" was being intoned. He then ascended the pulpit and preached a sermon, taking for his text the First Epistic of Paul to the Cirinthians, first chapter. He said:—To-day your beauteous and grandiose course is dedicated to the service of God. By day and by might the clergy were filled with anxiety to see their labors completed. They planned and tolled and took counsel in order to bring this blessed work to a successful termination. You have done your part. The laboring mas set apart something from his bard earnings for the service of God. Here is a temple worthy of any city in the land, ay, even of Rome tuself. Those who leve Cartat must learn that they are in the world, not of the world; that they use the things as if they used them not. Here stand worthy of any city in the land, ay, even of Rome Itself. Those who love Carist must learn that they are in the world, not of the world; that they use the things as if they used them not. Here stand those noble seiders of Christ (the Fassionists), tolling day and night, bearing on their hearts a shield, reminding them of Christ crucified. Their mission is to secure for us the resurrection and the glory of neaven. This order was orought to this land, not many years ago, by the illustrious and deveted prelate who was the first sishop of Pittsburg, who was some time since called to his reward. It was regarded as an excess of severity in the Church as a religious Order, but the good Bissop who introduced them penetrated deeply the hearts of all. This Order has since spread to a wonderful degree throughout the country, and we need no stronger proof of its success than we find here to-day, wen we look around on this magnificent temple. The one lesson taught by these lathers is Christ-crucified. You have Christ crucified here ou the altar, the same body and the same blood that were given up for us on Cavary. In the DAYS OF PERSECUTION the martyr's tomb was the sitar. When the days of peace came temples arose and the sely sacrifice was offered by priests in sacerdotal garb. The whole earth to-day is dotted all over with caurebes wherein the holy sacrifice is offered. Some stars are brighter than others, and how much brighter fice was offered by priests in sacerdotal garb. The whole earth to-day is dotted all over with cauredes wherein the boly sacrifice is offered. Some stars are brighter than others, and how much brighter shall you make this temple than others?

When the Bishop concluded his sermon the celebration of the pontifical mass was proceeded with as usual. At four o'clock in the afternoon solemn pontifical vespera were sung. Bishop Lynch officiating. The concourse of spectators was greater than it had been in the morning. A sermon appropriate to the occasion was preached by the Rev. Jr. Mcsweeny, of Foughkeepsie. In the morning and the afternoon collections were taken up, and a large sum of money was realized, and proceeds of which will ge toward defraying the expenses incorred in the erection of the building. Before the close of the vespera a large number of temperance societies, moving to the music of urass bands, and bearing banners and the regain of their respective organizations, there the theroughfares leading to the Monastery and marched into the edifice. There were about 4,000 persons within and around the grounds.

A NEW CHURCH IN HOBOKEN.

LAYING THE CORNER STONE OF ST. MARY'S BOMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH.

The corner stone of the proposed Roman Catho-Ac church of St. Mary's, in course of erection at the corner of Fourth and Willow streets, Hoboken, was laid at four o'clock yesterday afternoon by the Most Rev. W. A. Corrigan, Bishop of Newark. The site of the structure and the surrounding streets were thronged with spectators. The Bisnop was assisted by the Rev. Patners Walsh, Smith, Alphonsus and Settoni. The Rev. M. C. Duggan, pastor of the church, officiated as master of ceremonies. Riter the customary services medent to the laying of the stone Rev. Father Spaiding delivered a discourse in which he alinded to the fitness of performing such a ceremony on the anniversary, of the Declaration of American Independence. It was from the Pourth of July. 1776 that Catholicism might, in a cert in sense, date its origin in this country. Previous to that time the Catholic Church was under the ban throughout the colonies; her priests were persecuted and her rights declared to involve benalties. In New York one priest had been executed simply because he was a minister of that church. Protestantism, in some shape or other, neld undisputed sway. But the same day which saw the colonies proclaimed free and independent beheld the Cattoric Church born to a like inheristance of freedom. And from the time when her snackles were removed she continued to grow and expand beheath the flag of freedom, never faitering in her career of progress. To-day her children cover the whole country, her churches are to be found from the North to the extreme South, and she is limited only by throughout the colonies; her priests were persechildren cover the whole country, her churches are to be found from the North to the extreme South, and she is limited only by the oceans. Who would imagine that from her tender himney in 1776 she would rise and increase until at length, in the present year, a cardinal would be created among her children, and that eleven archishops, sixty bishops and an immense host of priests and members of religious orders would preach her doctrines, unsetered, to millions of devoted subjects, white Protestantism was crumbing to pieces? The pastor and Catholics or Hoooken were now laboring zealously in this work of propagating the faith. The people should continue unceasingly to aid in the grand work; they should contribute generously toward the erection of a temple wherein the sacraments would be administered to themselves and their posterity, a temple which is their only true home here on earth and the gate of heaven. When the reverend gentleman concluded his address, Father Duggan went among the multitude collecting funds, and his appeals were generously responded to. When completed, the church will present an imposing appearance, it from on the public park and extends from willow to Climton street. Its total cost will reach $20.000, a large portion of which has already been subscribed through the untiring efforts of the popular pastor and curates who nope to celebrate their first masses in the new building next year.

LAYING THE CORNER STONE.

A NEW ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH IN BROOKLYN. Yesterday afternoon the corner stone of another Catholic temple was laid with appropriate ceremonies in Brooklyn. The church, to be known as that of the Transfiguration, corner of Marcy ave-uue and Hooper street, will be under the nastoral care of Rev. John Fagan, a most energetic and faithful minister to a rapidly increasing congregation, and as the Catholic portion of the population of the section of Williamsburg bad no place of worship, it will undoubtedly enjoy the benefits of a large constituency tmmediately on its completion. For the past year Father Fagan has been conducting worship in a temporary structure in Hooper street, between Marcy and Lee avenues. The foundations are 100 by 50 feet, and the building will be constructed of Finladelphia brick, with Nova Scotia freestone trimmings, in the Gothic order of architecture. It will be used as a church for the present, but is intended to be used as a parochial scacol when the main church shall be built some years hence. The ceremonies yesterday were impressive and elaborate, Bishop Loughin conducting them, assisted by the following clergy:—Rev. Fathers fournure, Vicar General of the diocese; O'Brien, of the Church of the Assumption; Carroll, of St. Vincent de Paul's; McNamara, of St. Joseph's; Crimmins, of St. Mary's; Long Island City; O'Boirne, of St. John's; Reardon, of Our Lady of Mercy; McKioregan, of Parkville; Cunningham, of Kansas; Brennan and Nevins, of St. Mary of Immaculate Conception; Tanfe and O'Conneil, of St. Patrick's, and McNamara, of East New York.

Just previous to the commencement of the ceremonies a numerous procession, under Alderman O'Bielly, as Grand Marshal, paraded in front of the church, along Hooper street, including societies of the temperance orders. Ancient Order of Hibernians and St. Patrick's Nutual Alliance, but after being reviewed melted into the immense concourse assembled to witness the impressive services, it was faily half-past four when Bishop Loughin approached the cross erected on the site of the appropriate prayers for the occasion. He then proceeded to the stone on the northwest corner, and, after the usual prayer, set the stone with a sliver trowel. The litany of the saints followed, all kneeling, and then the foundation walls were blessed, the entire circuit being made by the Bishop pand clergy, the former sprinking with holy water as he proceeded. An eloquent sermon was then preached from the platform by Rev. Father O'Farrell. of St. Peter's Roman Catholic church. At the close of the sermon the Bishop pronounced the benediction and the assemblage dispersed. temporary structure in Hooper street, between Marcy and Lee avenues. The foundations are 100

ANOTHER CORNER STONE TO BE LAID.

The corner stope of the Roman Catholie Church of St. Michael, corner Fourth avenue and Forty-second street, South Brooklyn, will be laid by Bishop Loughlin on Sunday, July 25, at five o'clock P. M. The pastor of the church will be Rev. P. O'Connell, D. D.

THE BOY MURDERER.

DECISION OF THE COUNCIL IN REFERENCE TO THE HANGING-POMERCY'S CONFESSION AND THE FLUTTERINGS IN THE HEAD-NARRATION OF THE PARTICULARS OF THE MURDER. BOSTON, July 3, 1875,

The Connell yesterday, by a vote of five to four, anthorized the Governor of Massachusetts to issue his warrant for the execution of the boy murderer,

The jacts of the two murders committed by this boy are only too well known. For months an immense pressure has been brought to bear on the Governor and members of the Council, by parties in favor of meting out to Pomerov the full extent of the law-L e., hanging instead of commutation of sentence to imprisonment for life. Delegation after delegation of ladies (mothers in nearly all cases) have waited upon members of the Council at their homes, offices, on the street, at the hotels while dining, and even in stores when making necessary purchases have they been besieged by ladies, as soon as recognized as members of the Governor's Council, to cast their vote in favor of hanging whenever his case should come before the Council for final disposition. Hearings to the public have been given at the State House before the Governor and Council on the question of commutation of sentence, and most able arguments have been made on both sides, and yesterday the decision was made. In view of this, I am committing no breach of confidence when I write you of certain facts connected with this case. Jesse Pomeroy is a morai monstrosity. He murdered two small children for no cause whatever. He did not rob them of even a pin; he had no quarrel with them, whereby his passions might have been excited; he suffered no revengelul feelings toward the parents of his victims. The children and their families were perfect strangers to him. No cause for these murders are known.

He was visited at the juil where he has been confined since his conviction by members of the Council, who conversed with him on the subject of his crimes. They found him to be an unusually bright and intelligent lad; his answers were given with promptness and decision; there was no wavering or hasitation in them. but right to the point. When asked how many murders be had committed his quick reply was, orwo sir !" He was asked why he killed the little boy, and replied that "he did not know." He boy, and replied that "he did not know." He said that "he was standing with others looking at the working of a fire engine, when he noticed a pretty looking little boy standing near. He suddenly asked the little fellow if he wouldn't take a walk with him, and upon consenting, he was led across marshes a distance of at least a mile, when suddenly he felt a fluttering in his head and meccanically he took his pocket. In the firm his pocket, rapidly opened it, and stabbed; stabbed, stabbed it into his little victim, naving no consciousness of what he was doing at the time, and never that day fully realizing what he had done. That in all the time he was walking with the boy he did not have it in his mind to injure him, his only notion in having him with him was for companionship, and it was only when suddenly seized with this uncontrollable impulse that he did the deed, and it all occurred within a minute. The boy was a pretty child and that was what attracted him toward him."

THE MUNDER OF THE LITTLE GIBL.

When asked about the circumstances of his killing the little girl in South Bosten, he said that "that morning his mother and brother were away or engaged, and he was obliged to attend to the periodical atore. He sat reading awhile when a pretty little girl, whom he had never seen before, came in and asked for some papers. As soon as she spoke this terrible lecting all through him, with the fluttering in his head, came over him, and he replied, "They're down cellar." Unsuspectingly she opened the door and passed down the stairs, Popperor immediately following, drawing his kapie as he wont. As soon as the bottom was reached as he want. said that "he was standing with others looking at

DELIBERATIONS OF THE COUNCIL.

Council, "his brain was turned, and his highest ambition was to be the Texas Jack" of South Boston."

Deliberations of the council.

Probably never before in the history of this Commonwealth has a question or fact arisen when the Governor and Council have jound harder to dispose of than what should be done with Jesse Pomeroy.

The papers and everything selating to the case and trial have been careally examined by the best legal minds in the State, and the preponderance of opinion among the legal profession who nave been con-hilled in the matter has been that Pomeroy's sentence should be commused to impisonment for life. Ex-Chief Justice Bigelow, who carefully weighted every particle of the evidence, half the papers down before the assembled Council and stated "that Pomeroy in his opinion, never should be thanged. And that he never should have his liberty, but always be confined, He was satisfied that the boy was not in his right mind, and thereby irresponsible for the crimes, but that he was to dangerous a character with that taut in his blood to ever be allowed to go tree." Every member of the jury signed a request for commutation, Two-tairds of the medical experts pronounced him not altogether in his right min.

Governor Gaston himself was in favor of commutation, and so was the Lieutenant Governor until very recently, and it was a surprise to all of the Council yesterday to see him throw his vote in favor of having the privilege of casting a vote, while the Governor is debarred from so doing. Had he been allowed by law to have done so, his vote would yesterday have made it a lie. The question has arisen, that in view of the known fact that Governor Gaston is opposed to the full penalty of the lisw being meted out to Pomeroy, while he over the south has signature from an unquestionable source, that although he has the power to so withhold his signature irom in the laws of this Commonwealta, is not availed of, which section says "Finat any member of the Council wood of the council was of his Council may move f

OBITUARY.

CAPTAIN MERRILL, OF THE LOST SHIP CHAM-PLAIN.

The death of Captain Reuben Merrill, of the ill-fated chipper ship Champlain, off the North Farallones islands, near San Francisco, adds another to the long list of veteran shipmasters who have started on their last voyage within the past eighteen months. Captain Merrill was the last man to leave his ship, which went ashore in a fog, and while in a boat was struck on the head by a martingale and sustained a wound which caused his death. He was born in Cumberland, Me., in 1818, and lived when ashore in that town till 1857, when he moved to Yarmouth, where his widow and children now reside. During the war he represented the latter town in the Legislature of Maine for two sessions. Daniel McConnell, formerly a resident of the Pirst ward in this city, died suddenly on Saturday night last at the Aiken House, South Carolina. Mr. McConnell for many years was the proprietor of the European House. Savannah, and had but lately taken possession of the Aiken House. He was well known to all visitors on the Southern coast ana his sudden demise will be greatly deplored among a large circle of acquaintances.

INTERFERING WITH AN OFFICER

Officer Dunnigan, at an early hour yesterday morning, arrested B. McElroy for assaulting one Terence McGonigle, on Second avenue, near Ninth street. On the way to the station John Rafferty attacked the officer and attempted to rescue the prisoner McEiroy. Officer Dunnigan, however, turned the tables by capturing Rafferty also and locking both men up.
